Principal's Corner

The nurture and education of students involve many institutions. The traditional ones are the home, the church, and the school. The basic agency of nurture is the family. More than anyone else, parents can communicate to their children how the insights gained from obedient listening to God's word should govern the Christian life. Most of the home's education is informal. It takes place through daily interaction and discussion, devotions, games, sharing of chores, and those much needed vacations together. Children learn most from parental modeling and from the way parents structure everyday family life. Summer is the perfect opportunity to spend extra time with your children, enjoy their company, and to encourage their Godly gifts. They truly are amazing!

Remember to read, read, read this summer! Read a book together and talk about it. Also, spend time on the math websites we gave you at the end of the school year. If you have misplaced them, please call Michelle in the office.

Have a safe and blessed summer!

*"No eye has seen,
no ear has heard,
no mind has conceived
what God has prepared for those who love him"*
1 Corinthians 2:9
